ABOUT THIS GUIDE

THIS GUIDE IS THE SINGLE REFERENCE FOR HOW F1R3FLY SHOWS UP VISUALLY—ACROSS PRODUCTS, PLATFORMS, AND TEAMS.

Use it when creating anything that carries the F1R3FLY name: presentations, documents, web pages, social posts, partner materials. If it's not covered here, ask before improvising. Areas still in development are marked.

This is a living document.
Check back for updates as the system evolves.

OVERVIEW OF BRAND

THE CORE ELEMENTS THAT HOLD THE BRAND TOGETHER.

Four things should stay consistent across every F1R3FLY property: the logo, the color system, the typography, and the structure.

Consistency builds recognition, and recognition builds trust.

Every time the brand shows up looking different, it costs us credibility especially with enterprise and institutional audiences who read inconsistency as instability. This book exists to prevent that.

LOGO: VERTICAL LOCKUP

THE VERTICAL LOCKUP IS THE PRIMARY LOGO CONFIGURATION — LOGOMARK STACKED ABOVE THE WORDMARK.

The spacing between the logomark and wordmark is fixed at 60% of the wordmark height. The logomark occupies the center 60% of the total width, with 20% clear space on each side.

These proportions don't change at any size.

LOGO: VERTICAL LOCKUP

CLEAR SPACE PROTECTS THE LOGO FROM COMPETING VISUAL ELEMENTS. THE BOUNDARY SHOWN HERE IS THE MINIMUM—MORE SPACE IS ALWAYS BETTER.

The same margins, clear space, and minimum size rules apply to every version of the F1R3FLY logo: vertical lockup, horizontal lockup, logomark alone, and icon.

LOGO: HORIZONTAL LOCKUP

THE HORIZONTAL LOCKUP PLACES THE LOGOMARK TO THE LEFT OF THE WORDMARK.

Use it where vertical space is limited — headers, footers, navigation bars, partner logo rows.

The wordmark sits within the center 60% of the lockup height, with 20% padding above and below. The gap between logomark and wordmark is 20% of the logomark width.

LOGOMARK AND ICON

LOGOMARK AND ICON USE

The logomark can be used independently when the F1R3FLY name is already established in context—app icons, favicons, social avatars, watermarks.

The icon (the single firefly) is reserved for the smallest applications: browser tabs, notification badges, and anywhere the full logomark loses legibility.

The same clear space and minimum size rules apply to both. When in doubt, use the full lockup.

Maximum width as stand alone is 80 px

Maximum width as stand alone is 60 px

Minimum width 40 px

LOGO FOR LIGHT BACKGROUND

THESE ARE THE DARK-ON-LIGHT VERSIONS FOR USE ON WHITE OR LIGHT BACKGROUNDS.

The full-color logomark and the single-color black versions are both approved.

Use full-color when the context supports it. Use single-color black when printing limitations or visual simplicity require it. The dark circular badge versions (bottom row) are for social profiles and app icons on light backgrounds.

LOGO RULES

DARK BACKGROUNDS ARE THE PRIMARY CONTEXT FOR THE F1R3FLY LOGO. LIGHT BACKGROUND USAGE IS APPROVED BUT SECONDARY.

Don't recolor the logo, distort the proportions, add effects, place it on busy backgrounds without sufficient contrast, or separate the logomark from the wordmark in the lockup configurations.

Logo files are available in SVG, PNG, and PDF formats. Always use the provided files—don't recreate or approximate the logo.

COLOR PALETTE

THE F1R3FLY PALETTE IS BUILT TO BE THE LIGHT IN DARK ENVIRONMENTS.

Black is the foundation—not a background color, the actual brand surface. Everything else exists in relationship to it—to emphasize light as a metaphor for bright ideas.

This is the primary F1R3FLY identifier—the gradient that ties cyan, sage green, and warm yellow together. Use it for section labels, navigation highlights, and brand accents. Don't use it as a background fill.

SECONDARY COLOR PALETTE

EACH AUDIENCE SEGMENT HAS ITS OWN GRADIENT IDENTITY.

These appear on both websites, social media visuals, and also for print.

On our website, these are applied to buttons, section backgrounds, and CTAs to signal who the content is for.

Neutral gradient: Made for universal use with the primary brand gradient

Client Gradient: Use as the primary gradient for client-facing elements

Developer Gradient: Use as the primary gradient for developer-facing elements

Partner Gradient: Use as the primary gradient for partner-facing elements

TYPOGRAPHY

ALL HEADINGS ARE UPPERCASE WITH WIDE LETTER-SPACING

Secondary: Source Sans Pro

Adobe Typekit (same kit)

Weight 300 (Light) is the default body text weight. Set at 16px with 0.04em letter-spacing for comfortable reading on dark backgrounds.

Size Scale (from website CSS)

Hero / display: clamp(2rem, 4vw, 3.5rem)

Section headings: 2.75rem, weight 100

Subheadings: 1.25rem–1.5rem, weight 500

Body: 1rem (16px), weight 300

Eyebrow labels: 0.85rem, uppercase, wide tracking

Nav links: 18px, weight 330, uppercase

PAIRING RULES

Brandon Grotesque handles anything structural—headers, labels, buttons, navigation. Source Sans Pro handles anything the reader needs to actually read—paragraphs, descriptions, FAQ answers, form fields. Don't reverse these roles.

OUR VOICE

HOW F1R3FLY SHOULD SOUND:

- Clear, technically accurate, no hype
- Business-friendly, not academic
- Confident and grounded—not "to-the-moon" Web3 marketing
- Visionary, but anchored in real use cases

Approved tagline: "Concurrency for the people."

Preferred terms: verifiable infrastructure, audit-ready data, provable systems, evidence-first

Avoid: investment language, unverified green claims, crypto hype, aggressive competitor language, deep jargon on public-facing pages

CONSISTENT BRAND LAYOUTS

STANDARD LAYOUT CONFIGURATIONS FOR F1R3FLY MATERIALS.

These patterns apply across presentations, web pages, social cards, and print—anywhere the logo, text, and imagery need to coexist.

Use these as starting points, not constraints. The goal is recognizable structure, not rigid templates.

BRAND ARCHITECTURE

F1R3FLY USES AN ENDORSED BRAND MODEL. THE MASTER BRAND LEADS EVERY SUB-BRAND — THEY CARRY THE F1R3FLY NAME, THE FIREFLY MARK, AND THE CORE VISUAL SYSTEM. EACH SUB-BRAND CAN DEVELOP ITS OWN ACCENT COLOR AND SECTOR-SPECIFIC IMAGERY, BUT THE FOUNDATION DOESN'T CHANGE.

Consistent across all sub-brands:

F1R3FLY name and firefly mark

Black foundation / dark aesthetic

Brandon Grotesque typography

Core tone and language

Products:

F1R3SKY, F1R3Drive, Embers, F1R3FLY Core, F1R3FLY AI

Sub-brands:

ACCESSIBILITY

ACCESSIBILITY IS BASELINE PROFESSIONALISM.

We design to WCAG AA standards as a minimum: sufficient contrast ratios, proper heading structure, labeled form elements, readable type sizes. Tools like Pa11y, axe-core, and Lighthouse keep us honest.

Add links for checking contrast etc
